

our community. Everyone who knows me knows that I require crowd participation,” Diana says with a laugh. “I always get all my friends and family to chip in on whatever cause I’m involved with, because I believe it takes a village.”

Looking to the future, Diana is excited to grow her business while continuing to help people in her community. “My goal is to always help people save money, and to help people who never thought they could obtain homeownership get into the home of their dreams.”
